The National Bank of Kazakhstan (hereinafter the NBK) releases into circulation QANYSH SÁTBAEV. 125 JYL collectible coins from the “Outstanding Events and People” series.

Information about the start date of coin sales will be additionally posted on the official website of the NBK.

About QANYSH SÁTBAEV. 125 JYL collectible coins

Kanysh Satbayev is a Soviet geologist, scientific and public figure, professor, first president of the Academy of Sciences of the Kazakh SSR.

The ring of a 2000 tenge coin is made of tantalum and has purple color, symbolizing the color of manganese ore. Large deposit of this mineral was discovered and developed by Kanysh Satbayev near the settlement of Zhezdy.

Manganese was extensively used in the production of steel alloys for armored vehicles during the Great Patriotic War, accounting for over 70% of manganese ore in the USSR.

Coins are made:

- in bicolor design (925/1000 silver disc weighing 34 grams and tantalum ring weighing 40 grams), coin weight – 74 grams, diameter – 50 mm, proof quality. The face value of the coin is 2000 tenge, the total mintage is 300 (three hundred) pieces;
